The Papers of Francis I. Catlin, M.D.

I. Introduction

Francis I. Catlin has contributed to the Texas Medical Center for nearly twenty years as a physician, administrator, professor and researcher. Dr. Catlin served as Chief-of-Service of the Departments of Otolaryngology at Texas Children's Hospital and St. Lukes Episcopal Hospital. He was also Professor of Otorhinolaryngology and Communicative Sciences at the Baylor College of Medicine. Prior to accepting his Baylor appointment, Dr. Catlin was Associate Professor of Otolaryngology in the School of Medicine and Associate Professor of Public Health and Hygiene of the Johns Hopkins University. He received his M.D. as well as Sc.D. from the Johns Hopkins University and did his residency training at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland.

Upon his retirement in the Summer of 1991, Dr. Catlin generously donated his papers to the Harris County Medical Archive. This large collection (110 boxes/46 linear feet) contains notes from his medical research, scientific experiments, institutional documents, manuscripts and subsequent articles. One unique aspect of this collection is the large number of documents that trace the development and structure as well as Dr. Catlin's extensive involvement in professional societies and associations in the field of Otolaryngology. Dr. Catlin will be donating more materials from his continued work with the American National Standards Institute, International Organization for Standardization and the American Society for Testing and Materials. Dr. Catlin has worked with many of the physicians whose papers the Archive has been fortunate to procure. His fine collection aids the Harris County Medical Archive in its continuing efforts to document the history of institutions and leaders here in the Texas Medical Center.

The collection is open for research. Individuals interested in using the collection should contact the Archivist or Special Collections Librarian.

II. Biography

Francis I. Catlin was born on December 6, 1925 in Hartford, Connecticut. In 1943, he attended Princeton University and received his A.A. in 1949.

From 1944 to 1972, Francis Catlin studied, lived and practiced in Baltimore, Maryland. He attended medical school at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine receiving his Doctor of Medicine degree in 1948. Dr. Catlin then served a rotating internship at the Union Memorial Hospital. From 1949 to 1950 he was a research fellow at Johns Hopkins School of Medicine. He also served two residencies in otolaryngology at the Johns Hopkins Hospital.

In 1950, Dr. Catlin joined the U.S. Air Force Medical Corps. At the rank of Captain he was Assistant Chief of E.N.T. Service, U.S. Air Force, 1100th Medical Group, Bolling Air Force Base in Washington, D.C. till 1952.

Dr. Catlin studied and conducted research from 1956 to 1958 at the Johns Hopkins University School of Public Health and Hygiene. He was awarded a Doctorate of Science in 1959. The thesis he wrote was entitled "Frequency Conversion Effects Upon Speech".

Dr. Catlin taught and conducted research as a faculty member at Johns Hopkins from 1955 to 1972. He had faculty appointments in the Department of Otolaryngology in the School of Medicine, the School of Public Health and Hygiene's Environmental Medicine Department and Public Administration.

After nearly thirty years in Maryland, Dr. Catlin and his family moved to Houston, Texas. He accepted the appointments of Professor, Baylor College of Medicine, Department of Otorhinolaryngology, Chief-of-Service, Department of Otolaryngology, St. Luke's Episcopal and Texas Children's Hospitals and Director of the Speech, Language and Learning Disorders departments. During the mid-seventies the University of Texas Medical School at Houston appointed Dr. Catlin to a clinical faculty post.

Surgery is only one of the activities Dr. Catlin carried out. As Chief-of service, Dr. Catlin directed non-surgical management of diseases of the ears, nose and throat as well as disorders of communication: hearing, speech and language. He coordinated research at hospitals and those of his students. Dr. Catlin successfully combined his teaching and administrative responsibilities.

Despite all his commitments, Dr. Catlin found time to be an active member of seventeen professional associations. The American Medical Association, Houston Pediatric Society and American Otological Society are just three of them. He has accepted numerous appointments in these scientific societies. Dr. Catlin has been a principal participant in international and national conferences and symposia. Over the years he authored fifty publications and has had twelve hospital appointments.

Dr. Catlin retired in the summer of 1991. He will continue his research for the American National Standards Institute, International Organization for Standardization and the American Society for Testing and Materials. He will also continue to support the Library and other Texas Medical Center Institutions.

Dr. Catlin has a great love for music and the performing arts. Since retiring, he has devoted time to composing music on his home computer. He and his wife Rebecca enjoy traveling, entertaining in their home and spending time with their three grown children and other family members.

III. Organization

The Francis I. Catlin Collection has been arranged alphabetically and chronologically where applicable. The Collection arrived with sections organized. Where possible the initial organization was retained.

Dr. Catlin donated a large number of government publications, books and TMC Institutional Publications. From these publications, ones that he wrote, signed editions or ones that cite his research were kept with the collection. Select materials were identified for integration into the Library's collection and the HRC's collections. Likewise, some institutional publications were redistributed to the institutional collections in the Archive. Duplicate copies of material in the Collection or existing institutional collections were discarded.

The majority of the photographs from this collection correspond to articles or lectures. For continuity, they were left with the respective reprints, manuscripts or conference documents. A limited number have been removed and placed in the Historical Research Center Photograph Collection.
